

July 7, 2022

Dear Prospective Sponsor:

NATHPO is proud to announce the Second Annual Sacred Places Summit will be held virtually September 21-22, 2022. This year's theme is THPOs at 30 – Making Meaningful Mean Something.

The stars will align yet again for this year's Summit and the theme THPOs at 30 – Making Meaningful Mean Something. We are marking the 30th anniversary of the 1992 amendments to the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) that established the Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (THPO) program. This event is a powerful incubator of real, sustainable change as Tribes, legislators, agency leadership & staff, and industry meet to discuss:

- Connecting to place. While still virtual, we will establish clear understanding of why sacred places are central to the health and vitality of Native Peoples through Tribal Storytelling.
- What is. Voices from the original 12 THPO Tribes will discuss what progress has been made in the last three decades, where are we now, and where should we be heading.
- What should be. Tribal, legislative, federal & state agency, and industry voices will engage to create lasting, transformational changes to Protect Native Places by defining solutions.
- Action. Identify deliberate, measurable steps forward for preservation and reconciliation. As promised, we'll also check on the progress made over the last year and identify goals to make meaningful strides forward in the year to come.

NATHPO is the only national organization devoted to supporting tribal historic preservation programs.

We are a 501(c)(3) non-profit membership association of Tribal preservation leaders protecting culturally important places that perpetuate Native identity, resilience, and cultural endurance. Connections to cultural heritage sustain the health and vitality of Native peoples. We provide guidance to preservation officials, elected representatives, and the public about national historic preservation legislation, policies, and regulations. We promote tribal sovereignty, develop partnerships, and advocate for Tribes in governmental activities on preservation issues.

Your contribution is important to NATHPO. Participation and support of donors, members, and partners – like you – make our work possible. Enclosed, please find the Second Annual NATHPO Sacred Places Summit Sponsorship package, or simply visit our website. Please contact me if you have questions or need additional information, at valerie@nathpo.org or 202-628-8476.

From all of us at NATHPO, thank you in advance for your generosity and partnership!

Sincerely,

Valerie J. Grussing, PhD
